

TAXATION OF BLOOD AND CONSCRIPTION

P. D. Monk Has Dark Forebodings of Canada's Future—Talks on Naval Policy at Banquet Meeting—Speakers Came Near to a Personal Encounter.

Quebec, July 15.—There were scenes of excitement at Banquet the other afternoon when a big gathering was addressed by Mr. P. D. Monk, M.P., on the naval question. The speech-making was followed by a narrow-avoided personal encounter between Mr. T. Turcotte, of Quebec county, who spoke in defence of the government, and Mr. Armand Lavigne, who were kept from blows only by the intervention of friends.

The issue of Mr. Monk's address was to the effect that the people of Canada should have an opportunity to voice their opinion on the naval policy of the government. Mr. Monk said that his stand on the matter had cost him personal friends and health.

He said the war years of 1893-94, and said it was something like the time when Napoleon threatened to cross the English channel and get at Alton. That terror was felt here in Canada and a resolution was introduced in parliament that Canada was ready to cut her share of national defence.

Gen. French's Visit.

Referring to General French's visit to Canada, Mr. Monk asked if Canada was to have conscription, which was prevalent in Europe, and according to Lord Roberts, England would have long have to follow suit.

Concerning the naval question he said he did not believe he had gone too far in taking his stand that the people should be consulted on such a new programme which was being introduced into European conflicts. He disagreed with those who thought the question was disposed of for good. People who said that did not know the inner force of politics. One strong word from the victor, he said, and you will see those in power make a quicker change of front. Rome conquered the world just the Romans had no liberty. Is that what is coming here? No, it cannot be that. The American rebellion had been caused by taxation without representation, and Canadians were now facing a taxation of blood, a racial tax, without representation. Were Canadians to have no say in such matters? Were they not to be allowed to criticize the government? Were they to be slaves to that system? He thought not, and Mr. Monk said he looked to the younger men like Mr. Lavigne, to support the right of the people.

Mr. Monk claimed that the navy would cost one hundred million dollars, it was perfectly well understood that the few millions voted last session were but the first month. It was, he claimed, a new policy for Canada to take part in any Imperial war. It was something of sovereign importance to the Canadian people, and he considered he had acted on a sound principle in asking the government to defer the question until the people had been consulted.

Mr. Turcotte pointed out the difference existing between Mr. Monk and his former leader, Mr. Borden. Mr. Turcotte claimed that Mr. Lavigne would not be on the platform supporting Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Judge Lavigne had appointed chief justice some time ago. Friends intervened, and prevented a personal encounter, and in the excitement Mr. Turcotte added to the heat by shouting that there was a man near him with a weapon intended to do him harm. Mr. Turcotte said afterwards he had been told the man was armed and ready to strike. The excitement was fuelled by Mr. Turcotte withdrawing his remark about Judge Lavigne.

Mr. Lavigne took up the sending of Canadian troops to South Africa as an example of militarism. Mr. Henri Bourassa and Jean Prevost, saying they were unable to be present at the meeting, just they were both opposed to war government naval programme.

Mayor Jovine of Banquet, presided at the meeting and Mr. Boudin, M.P., also spoke.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON MEETING. The meeting to be held in the Orpheum theatre tomorrow afternoon under the auspices of the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Temperance and Moral Reform League, will be musical in character. Several of the city choirs are entering representatives, and the band of the Salvation Army will play selections. The following is the programme:

Opening hymns and prayer; selection by the Salvation Army Band, chairman's address. His Worship Mayor Levy; solo, Howard Stubbins (Grace Methodist); duet, Mrs. Hayner and Mr. Homer (McDougall); violin solo, Mr. E. Boudreau (First Baptist); Quartette, from Grace Methodist Church; selection by the Salvation Army Band; tenor solo, Wendell Rindell (Berkshire church); National Anthem.

The meeting will commence promptly at 4 o'clock, and as a packed hall is expected, all who intend being present should take their seats early.

Negotiating New Agreement. Montreal, July 15.—The situation has changed between the C.P.R. and the unions. The old agreement, a racial tax, without representation. Were Canadians to have no say in such matters? Were they not to be allowed to criticize the government? Were they to be slaves to that system? He thought not, and Mr. Monk said he looked to the younger men like Mr. Lavigne, to support the right of the people.

Mr. Monk claimed that the navy would cost one hundred million dollars, it was perfectly well understood that the few millions voted last session were but the first month. It was, he claimed, a new policy for

WRITS OUT AGAINST C.N.R. CONTRACTORS

Canadian Pacific Railway Brings Action Against Six of Men—Damages Amount to $100,000—Charles Monk With Diverting Resub Creek.

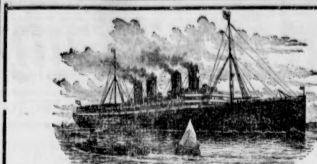

Calgary, July 15.—The Canadian Pacific Railway company is apparently determined to do everything in its power to delay and, if possible, to prevent the entrance of the rival, the Canadian Northern, into Calgary. Not content with its unsuccessful effort by means of an injunction to restrain the C.N.R. from crossing its irrigation ditch, the latest move on the part of the C.P.R. is to issue writs against six C.N.R. railway contractors for $20,000 alleged damage to C.P.R. property along the Resubdiv Creek.

The writs are issued against the contractors against whom the writs have been issued are: A. E. Bryson, Geo. Bryson, Richard Craig, T. G. Hurlton, John Breckenridge and John Trudney. These men are subcontractors under the Northern Construction company, which has the entire contract for the construction of the Vegreville to Calgary branch of the C.N.R. Each of them has good financial standing and is worth many times the amount of the writ, and his issue will not in any way impair their credit. The writs are issued on generally as a "bluff" on the part of the big corporation to delay construction work, but the contractors have signified their intention to go right ahead with work and to leave the deciding of the case to the courts.

SILENT FOR EIGHTY YEARS. Man Whose Case Baffled the Physicians Dies of Inertia.

Summersville, N.J., July 15.—Charles Hoffman, who has not spoken a word for three years, according to his neighbors is dead. He passed away last night without breaking the silence which he had preserved so long. Just before he died he made an effort to speak to his devoted daughter, Margaret Lane, who has cared for him in his lonely house throughout his eccentric career. The attempt failed, owing either to weakness or to the fact that he had lost the power to articulate.

Hoffman was 57 years old. He was one of the sons of a prosperous farmer. The other four lived and are prominent in their community. Hoffman spent his early life like his brothers on his father's farm. At the age of thirty he purchased a farm and lived on it for some years. He was of which he was very proud. He was fond of society and attended all gatherings of his community. Then misfortune overtook him. He lost his farm and his health. He was then taken to bed and turned his face to the wall and for a long time refused to eat or speak. Food was left on a table near his bed and when he awoke nearly starved but arose one night, ate a meal and took a stroll out of doors. He continued for a number of years to rise each night, eat and take a short walk in his garden. One winter night more than five years ago he slipped on the ice and broke his arm while walking in his garden in the dark. After that accident he never left his bed.

Whether Hoffman was insane was never determined, although he had been examined by a score of physicians with a view to determining his mental condition. His continued silence baffled all up to the time of his death. Physicians had been expecting Hoffman to die every year for the last decade from sheer inactivity.

SEIZE $3,000 WORTH OF OPIUM. Hundred and Forty Tins Found in Chest on C.P.R. Wharf Confiscated.

Vancouver, B.C., July 15.—One of the most important seizures of opium made in the port of Vancouver has just occurred in the baggage shed on the C.P.R. dock, and the customs authorities and the C.P.R. are working on the case which opened up an entirely new theory as to how opium is smuggled into this country. Maffra came to a head yesterday afternoon when Chief Wootton, supervisor of customs, and Mr. G. E. Graham, superintendent of the C.P.R. in Vancouver, were in conference. The seizure consists of 140 tins, which are valued at $2,000, and Customs Officer Cosgrove was the man who discovered them.

Last week a transfer rig took to the baggage shed a Chinese camphor-wood chest and the Celestial who accompanied it had it checked to Victoria. The chest was issued, but later Customs Officer Cosgrove decided to look through the chest as the rattle of cans could be heard when it was moved. On opening the chest a white sweater, the owner of which is claimed, is known, was found wrapped around some cans and a number of pillow slips marked "Empire of Japan" contained the remainder of the opium which was in five tin cans, valued at $20 each.

Customs officers have for a long time been of the opinion that opium which got past the watchman on vessel was smuggled ashore in safety owing to co-operation on the deck who knew the route, and from these secure interesting results are expected. The opium found was in five tin cans, valued at $20 each. The methods employed in getting it to the capital were crude because any customs officer would know that a camphor-wood chest must have come off an Orient steamer, and his official inquiries being aroused a search would follow.

THE BIRDS OF THE AIR FEAR THE AEROPLANES

Think Strange-Looking Machines Are a Menace—Great Crowd Applauds Acrobats at Toronto Aviation Meet—Count De Lesseps and Ralph Johnston Make Interesting Films.

Toronto, July 15.—The excitement of puny-arched birds at the sight of strange flying creatures, enormous, out of all range of their experience, invading their domain and busting through the air like a million times magnified bee was among the most curious of the incidents observed during the flights made at the aviation grounds at Weston tonight by aviators Ralph Johnston and David Lachapelle in the No. 2 Wright biplane, and by Count De Lesseps in his biplane monoplane.

Blind Fear New Rivals.
The feeling of the birds on the question of aeroplanes first became evident when Count De Lesseps rose into the air from the northeast end of the field, circling, dipping and rising while he went three times around the course, once passing above the heads of the spectators at the western end of the grounds before returning to his starting point. They made short, excited flights in all directions, deciding shrilly, totally unable to tell on shelter, that this was nothing but the evident fear they felt when the great "right machine rose into the air for about one hundred and fifty feet, rocking like a ship in a strong gale, and yet attempting all sorts of quick turns and corker flights as it passed around the field.

Count Performs "The Leap."
During Count De Lesseps' initial charge and came like an arrow as he, on returning from the end of the course, turned upwards and the biplane suddenly pointed downward quickly to earth that for a moment the spectators held their breath, uncertain whether they were witnessing a fall or a single aerial evolution. About twenty feet from the end of the course, the machine was seen as going as though with intent to smash his machine upon it, the elevating plane turned upwards and the biplane responded with marvelous quickness, going upward again and sliding down to earth in the place the Count had selected near his starting point. This feat, known to aeromaniacs as the "leap,"

Flying Close to Earth.
Spectacular flights do not always seem to be high above the ground. Perhaps one of the most appreciated portions of Ralph Johnston's first flight Saturday night was when he came within six or seven feet of the ground, and continued flying here and there about it, maintaining this distance, and sometimes even coming closer. The six thousand spectators, lavish of applause at all the flights, could themselves at this. (Peters is expected to ride his ass arrived, and great work, under better weather conditions, attempts will be made in the near future. The machine, in its height and speed, especially fine will be the view of several aloft in the air at once.

Flying a Gold Job.
The flight of the aviator has to fight against the cold wind on his flight, the people by whirling in front making the air back upon him at a furious rate, which, in addition to the speed of travel, very quickly makes the machine lost away from the body.

French an Aeromane Tanager.
An interesting commentary on the part France has borne in the development of the aeroplane is the fact that all the aviators, English and American, talk French, and in describing their machine or any part of its construction or operation would rather speak in French than in English. The other subjects they are used at home in their native tongue.

Very Strong Wind Up Higher.
Johnston landed a biplane speaking to Stratton as Lachapelle spoke of the ground. "Lachapelle didn't stay up very long," he said with a smile. "I guess he found the same thing up there that I did. You could scarcely believe it down here, but there is a perfect hurricane up there over a hundred feet high. Did you see the way I landed? I did it on my back, and I landed it at Montreal."

The Bomb That Didn't Drop.
Johnston landed a biplane in the charge of the Wright machine, came up, and, dropping a bomb, "Lachapelle, you will go up in the air, and drop a bomb," he said. "Sure," said Johnston. "Who will I drop it on? Any aircraft you want?"

He did go up again, and the bomb rose to an altitude of about 200 feet, staying in the air for ever four minutes before descending at 7:30 without dropping any explosives. The wind was here, but there is a perfect hurricane up there over a hundred feet high. Did you see the way I landed? I did it on my back, and I landed it at Montreal."

The People, all were so "cuddled" to their homes, filling the train, street cars, automobiles and other carriages which stood ready to transport them. Between two hundred and three hundred automobiles were at the meet, and lined up at the west end for their occupants to witness the flight of the biplane of the sky.

New Flight Model to be Christened.
The number six Wright machine from Dayton has arrived, and the new model, now named "the six," will receive the christening tomorrow. The number six biplane which Mr. Hester is expected to ride his ass arrived, and great work, under better weather conditions, attempts will be made in the near future. The machine, in its height and speed, especially fine will be the view of several aloft in the air at once.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently more break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ontario, is to purify the blood, he writes:

For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and many kind of treatments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills came to my aid. I have used them for one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, and my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my house and are looked upon as the family remedy. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25¢ a box.

NEW PROFESSORS FOR UNIVERSITY

Senate Appoints Dr. Sheldon, of Yale, and Dr. Fairley, of Jena, to Staff

An important meeting of the senate of the University of Alberta, was held yesterday morning in stratagem. The meeting was a very important one. Practically all the members of the senate who were not absent from the province were present, including Hon. Chas. R. Mitchell, minister of education, who took his place at the senate board for the first time. The other members present were Chancellor Stuart, vice-Chancellor Book, Messrs. McCall, Ferris, Hildall and Harcourt, Edmonstone, Nelson and Hutchings, Calgary; Dr. McInnis, Ed. Galt, Lethbridge, and Melville, Red Deer.

The financial report for the past year, which closed on June 30th, was presented to the meeting and proved to be most satisfactory. The receipts on current account for the year amounted to approximately $29,000, while the expenditures were about $23,500, leaving a very satisfactory surplus of about $5,500. The building and grounds committee report showed that satisfactory progress had been made with the new building on the campus.

The dormitory building is being pushed as rapidly as possible to completion, in the hope that it will be ready to accommodate the students in the resumption of classes in the fall. The prospects are that when classes resume in October next there will be a large increase in the number of students in attendance, it is estimated that there will be between 150 and 175 students enrolled by January 1st, 1911.

This prospective increased attendance of students has necessitated the appointment of additional professors, and after very careful investigation on the part of the senate, and the qualifications of the various applicants, the senate decided to make the following appointments:

Assistant professor in mathematics, Ernest W. Sheldon, M.A., McGill, Ph.D., Yale.
Lecturer in modern languages, Barker Fairley, M.A., Leeds, Eng., Ph.D., Jena.

Both Dr. Sheldon and Fairley are coming to the University of Alberta with the highest recommendations and are promising to give further strengthening of the very excellent staff of professors with which President Tully is now surrounded.

The flesh was torn from the wrist to elbow. The blast struck him in the face and arm. He was taken to the hospital, where the injured arm was dressed. He was afterwards removed to the city hospital.

DECEASED PICNIC.
Bulletin News Service.
Dunseldorf, a thriving settlement about 75 miles from Edmonton, held their first basket picnic on the 1st of July. About 100 persons gathered on the banks of the Pentina, bringing the banks for the children, bathing, croquet and other pastimes were indulged in. A piano and violin supplied music, and the day was a most successful one. It is to be hoped that it will be made an annual event, and that it will be the promoters for the capable manner in which they organized such a treat.

VERY WARM IN MANITOBA.
Temperatures of Over 100 Reported From Several Points.
Winnipeg, July 14.—The heat has been intense today in Manitoba and parts of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Temperatures of over one hundred have been reported from several points. With those who are handicapped by sunstroke and other ailments, it has certainly been a bad day for crops, as the grains will be forced towards maturity before the tilling is properly completed. In Manitoba a hot wind from the south is causing considerable distress to people, owing to the extreme humidity, and hopes for favorable results of the earlier drought are rapidly vanishing. It is more than probable that the Dominion government will again be asked to provide seed in some districts.

SIX YEAR OLD CHILD LOST.
Parents and Neighbors are Hunting Casually for Missing One.

She was rescued by a boy who passed her on horseback but must have blundered. Yesterday her legs thought they saw her but did not know the child was lost and thought her picking berries. Maude of the country is bush and bluff, and if she reached this it will be almost impossible to find her. Owing to the drought the sloughs are all dried up.

TO RELIEVE HOMESTEADERS.
C. A. Macpherson Proposes Regulations be Suspended Because of No Crops.
Lethbridge, July 15.—C. A. Macpherson, M.P., has written to J. W. Greenwood, commissioner of Dominion lands, suggesting that the homestead and pre-emption regulations be relaxed until such time as the homesteaders who have lost their crop this year have a good season. He suggests that the payment of interest on pre-emption be suspended and that cancellation proceedings in regard to homesteads suspended until March 1st, next, so as enable homesteaders to have their places in order to work out the irrigation works and railroad grading being carried out in the province. So far he has not received a reply.

REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS.
Premier Asquith Says German Government Can Do Nothing in This Direction.
London, July 15.—During the debate on the naval expenditures in the House of Commons yesterday, Premier Asquith reiterated that it was the desire of the British government to come to a friendly agreement with Germany looking toward the curtailment of armaments.
I wish," said the premier, "that an arrangement could be reached with Germany for a reduction of the vast naval expenditures. This government has approached the German government on the subject, but the latter can do nothing, owing to the navy law on the statute books. That being so, we must make our programme accordingly."
